The closing exercises of our City School were said to have been splendid by those in attendance. Prof. W. R. Blaisdell, the principal, has but few equals as a disciplinarian and educator.

JOHN BARNETT and five of his gang of Menifee desperadoes plead guilty to murder, in the Montgomery Circuit Court Wednesday, and all were sentenced to imprisonment for life.

WHEN we get the machine shops and the two new railroads soon to be constructed here, the trains will flock in here at morning, noon and night like swallows coming home to roost.

The deaf mutes of the United States have made up $1,400 to contribute for a bust of Garfield. Now the various charitable institutions will be called on to contribute something for the deaf mutes.

The municipal authorities of Carlisle have had a "dead line" marked out on their depot platform to keep the citizens from crowding the trains when they arrive. They require an officer to keep the citizens outside of the line, which is about 25 feet from the edge of the platform.

PROF. ASA K. MARTIN, of Winchester, a weather prophet before whom the mighty Wiggins pales his ineffectual fires, predicts that a cyclone will visit this section of Kentucky between the 7th and 15th of July which will sweep away nearly every thing that is standing and destroy many million dollars' worth of property.

Hope for Neal and Craft.

DETECTIVE BURNETT, of Charleston, West Va., assisted by a white and a colored detective, has arrested William Direly, of Ashland, and are on the hot track of Dabney Jones and Reuben Kendall, all colored, for the crime at Ashland, for which Neal and Craft are now held. It appears that all three of the parties left Ashland the night on which the crime was committed, all going in different directions many miles away. Direly was traced to Charleston, where he gave the bracelet of one of the murdered girls away to a colored damsel, and returned to Ashland, where he gave a ring to another. He was afterwards chased out of Portsmouth, and was finally arrested in Columbus, Ohio, and returned to Ashland, where he now lies in jail. There is a long chain of circumstantial evidence against the three men—the identity of the found bracelet, which if established satisfactorily, will be ten times as strong as the lunatic's evidence which condemned Neal and Craft and got Ellis hanged.

Detective Burnett has claimed all the time that Neal, Craft and Ellis were innocent, and has constantly worked on his favored clue, spent his own money, and it now appears that his efforts are about to be crowned with success. It is to be hoped that if he has secured the real criminals of that unfortunate affair, proof sufficient to convict them in the minds of the people will be produced, for such has not been the case regarding the conviction of Neal and Craft by an overwhelming majority.

The Lexington reporter of the Cincinnati Enquirer, who visited Neal and Craft and bore them the glad tidings, says:

Their faces were radiant with joy and hope. Neal rushed up and exclaimed: "Now, I reckon, people will believe a man when he swears his innocence of crime! Go tell every body to hereafter believe innocent men when they swear their innocence!" Craft raised his hand tragically and said: "My faith has never wavered that God would protect the innocent and bring the guilty to justice. I have never been afraid of being hung, for I knew that God would make all things right!"

The men were almost wild with joy, and quivered with excitement. "I told you so," "I told you so," "I told you so," they repeated over and over again. And, sure enough, they have told every body so all along. They expect confidently to soon obtain their enlargement, and they both declare that they will at once go back to Ashland to live, and say they do not believe that the people there would harm them now; but that if they do, then Neal and Craft can not help it, as they have done nothing which should cause them to be afraid to go back to their families.

The graves of the Federal and Confederate dead at the Maysville Cemetery were Tuesday decorated by the Confederate Survivors' Association, which was recently organized at Maysville. The association consists of the ex-Confederates of Mason, Bracken, Fleming, Robertson, Lewis and Nicholas counties of this State. A large crowd of people were present. The G. H. Heiser Post, G. A. R., an association of Federal soldiers, participated in the ceremonies by special invitation. The exercises consisted of the decoration services, vocal and instrumental music, an oration and an original poem by Maj. Henry T. Stanton, of Frankfort.

The performances of the Bourbon Female College at the Opera House Monday and Tuesday nights, were very enjoyable occasions. The hall was crowded on both occasions. The operetta cantata "Too Soon," was said to have been very entertaining indeed. The commencement exercises of this college took place at the Christian Church Wednesday morning, at which four graduates acquitted themselves with much honor. The graduates were the Misses Lena Atchison, Lily Jones, Sue Ford and Lily Hall.

THIRTEEN millions five hundred thousand gallons of whisky are now in bond in this revenue district, and it is being taken out of bond at the rate of 15,000 gallons a day. Exportations to Bermuda have been brisk for the past few weeks. G. G. White & Co., of this city, lately made an exportation of a dozen hundred gallon casks to Canada, the only exportation which has been made to the Dominion from this district.

The constantly increasing patronage of the Crawford House, Cincinnati, has enabled the proprietor to add several much-needed improvements to his house here lately. It now ranks first-class in many particulars, and is to be preferred to those whose charges are double.

A TORNADO passed through the farms of E. G. Bedford and Thos. H. Wilson, four miles above this place Tuesday, which did an immense damage in the destruction of trees and fences. It ranged a quarter of a mile in width, and passed from West to East.

John B. Adams, Louisville, says: "Brown's Iron Bitters is a valuable medicine for rheumatism. I have been permanently cured by it's use."

SCINTILLATIONS.

—An artist from Italy is now painting the scenery at High Bridge.

—Senator David Davis lost just thirty pounds on his bridal trip.

—Ed Payton, of Cincinnati is making a short visit to this, his old home.

—It is reported that the Georgia girl who is raising four acres of onions is not yet out of breath.

—The woman whose virtue has to be protected with a shot-gun, is hardly worth protecting.

—Col. A. M. Swope will deliver an address to the Alumni of Berea College next Monday night.

—Unripe buttermilk has poisoned several persons in Cincinnati. That's what they get for deviating from beer.

—President Arthur commends himself to Kentuckians by drinking old Kentucky Bourbon, at $18 per gallon, straight.

—Conductor Henry Green, of the Maysville division, who has been sick for several days, is at his post of duty again.

—It is now the fashionable thing to open up on strawberries and cream at supper, and top off on cold mutton and cheese.

—It is now in order to file away commencement essays and dresses for the younger sisters in the near and dear future.

—Mr. Beecher will be seventy years old the 24th of this month, but like Moses, his eye is not dim nor his natural force abated.

—Jos. M. Jones left Thursday for Chicago, to attend to some business connected with the manufacture of his patent wheelbarrow.

—Labouchere, in the London, Truth, advocates eating donkey meat. He says he has tried it, and that it is delicious, especially cold. The attention of dudes is respectfully called to this paragraph.

—Mrs. Isaac Clay, of this city, is finishing her musical education under instructions of Prof. Andre, the most accomplished pianist in Cincinnati. She will resume her work as teacher this fall.

—Green Keller, of the Carlisle Mercury, took in all of the sights at the Niagara Falls, at the cost of ten cents. Craddock is requested to pass the cake over to Keller—it's his, by rights.

—Dr. M. Dills, of Carlisle, having bought the letters patent on Dr. Willis' World Worm Candy, expects to soon worm himself into the ways of the wealthy in a short space of time.

—The book agent can change the countenance of the poor newspaper man from a cordial welcome to that of disappointment and disgust much quicker than the average college professor, but then the effect is not half so lingering.

In a Fourth street show window in Cincinnati, Wednesday evening, we observed the following rare and beautiful party dress: The round skirt was of strawberry satin embroidered in very dark red poppies and foliage down the front. Folds of the satin descending from the bodice was arranged to represent paniers. The train was of rich pink brocade, detached from the skirt, to which it formed a sort of back-ground, and was caught on one side with a turf of red and rose-colored feathers. The pointed bodice of strawberry satin was laced up the back, cut square front and back, with a lace bertha folded across the chest made of strawberry-tinted Spanish lace, matching the ruffles of lace around the bottom of the round skirt.

Mac Shipp graduated at Kentucky University yesterday.

Dr. Gould says that he would do it again if it was to do over.

The commencement hop was amply, yet not largely attended this year.

The commencement exercises were not as largely attended this year as usual.

Cargyle, the wounded marshal, is improving slowly. No clue to his assassination.

Leroy Smith has recovered from a severe spell of fever, and looks like a shadow.

The usual college society exercises were gone through with here this week, with the same results.

Charlie Bedford only priced his Nicholas farm to a Mason county man, and it is not sold as was reported.

Lots of the colored folks have subscribed small amounts towards the reward for the assassin of Cargyle.

Mike Thornton has a first-class home-made barouche, for sale cheap. He needs money badly, and now is the time to strike him. He's ripe for a trade.

Oscar Johnson lost a $300 brood mare by death Tuesday. A lump the size of a man's head raised behind one fore leg near the heart, was the cause of her death.

Silas Yager desires to announce to the farmers that he has on hands a lot of bluegrass strippers, and will strip seed on the shares, and will buy the farmers' half at the market price.

A farmer near Headquarters went out to plant ten acres of corn, and while sitting in the shade, made the calculation that he would have to walk 7,000 miles in raising the corn, and abandoned the project, saying that "the corn might go to h—l."

The exercises at Bryan's Hall Wednesday evening, were said by many who attended, to have been too protracted to be interesting. Dr. Gould was loudly applauded when he announced "only three more performances on the programme." This riled the Dr., who threatened to quit there, but he didn't.

Alf Bassett, in reply to the card of Rev. G. T. Gould, published in the Kentuckian, in which he was called a "fool" and an "ass," now calls Mr. Gould a "hypocrite" and a "two-faced man," and quotes scripture to prove that Mr. Gould "is in danger of hell fire for calling his brother a fool."

At the assignee's sale of Roy Cluke's horses Tuesday, the highest price was $1,050, and the next highest $1,000, from which they graded down to $300. A horse that cost $7,500 sold for $650. There were thirty horses sold, and their aggregate was $14,100.

The officers of the Latonia Jockey Club employed detective Larry Hazen and a corps of deputies to stand at their gates and spelt the demimode fraternity, and refuse them admission to the grand stand. They were allowed entrance to the public stand, however.

Liatunah, Royal Arch, Mediator and Springbok were the winners at the Latonia races Tuesday. About 8,000 persons were present. A heavy thunder storm came up between the second and third races, and the remainder of the sport was had with a heavy track.

The Latonia races will close to-day a grand success in every particular. The stock and races were all that could be wished, while the track, stables, grand and public stands are probably not excelled in the West. There being 300,000 people in the cities of Cincinnati, Covington and Newport to draw from besides a large country patronage, they are bound to be as largely attended as any races in the Union.

The Kentucky Jersey cattle Breeders Association met in Lexington Monday, and elected the following members: Rev. John L. Smith, President; Robt.
